A GULL'S EYE VIEW

Gulls are the most conspicuous non-human denizens of Folkestone,' according to artist Mark Dion. And a feature of the Triennial which became a familiar sight was his staffed mobile unit made in the shape of a herring gull which provided information about these often unloved birds. This included evolution, ethnology, natural history, environmental status and folklore. Folkestone is lucky to be host to a rather scarce species of gull – the Mediterranean gull – which is found in larger numbers in the area than anywhere else in the UK.

BY NICK AMES

THE Folkestone Triennial has helped the town beat the worst effects of the credit crunch as well as springboard its renaissance as a cultural centre.

Business people say the positive response from visitors who they have spoken to show they will be returning now the event is finished – and so spend money in shops, bars, cafés and restaurants.

No figures are yet available for the financial gains of the town, but Caroline Chambers, of business umbrella group Channel Chamber, said she was confident that the goodwill factor would be a boom in the coming months as the country struggles during the economic downturn.

"The town struggled during the last recession," she said. "But we are now far better placed to cope with the current crunch as the Triennial has promoted us and we have had major investments such as the new shopping centre and business parks and tourism initiatives such as the coastal park.

"Many people who visited the town have told me they will be back. Most had either not been here before or had an outmoded idea of what Folkestone was like.

"It has given us the chance to compete on a national – and even international – stage."

Paul Rennie, who runs a fashion store in the Old High Street, added: "People saw a town with a positive atmosphere, not a decaying seaside place. For visitors from, say, London, it showed a new place to go and for Kent people it showed what is on their doorstep."

Andrea Schlieker, curator of the Folkestone Triennial, said: "It put Folkestone firmly in the limelight."

Power in hands of protesters now, says E.ON

■ BY SIMON ROBINSON

ENERGY giant E.ON fears a court ruling will open the door for illegal and dangerous protests after six eco-activists, including one from Lyminge, were cleared of causing criminal damage to Kingsnorth power station.

The Greenpeace campaigners were charged with causing £30,000 damage to the Hoo peninsula plant during a two-day demonstration in October last year.

The five men and one woman admitted the damage but argued their actions had stopped the power station from polluting the environment.

The jury at Maidstone Crown Court was sent out to deliberate at 1pm on Tuesday last week, with Judge David Caddick urging the jurors to examine whether the protestors had a lawful excuse for their actions.

The climate campaigners were cleared by a ten-to-two majority after a nine-day trial.

E.ON press officer Jonathan Smith said: "We're extremely disappointed with the decision. We have always said we respect the campaigners' right to protest as long as they do so in a way that is safe and sensible.

"By breaking into the power station and climbing the chimney stack we would argue that is not a sensible or safe way to protest.

"Additionally, we are worried that this ruling will encourage other protestors to engage in similar actions at power plants across the country.

"It is these power stations that help to keep the lights on and bills low for our customers.

"We're every bit as worried about climate change as the protestors, but there are ways and means to protest and we would suggest their demonstration was not the way to do it."

During the protest, dozens of activists chained themselves to machinery, forcing the plant to shut down. A team of five protestors scaled the station's 200m chimney and abseiled down the stack later that day, painting 'Gordon' in big white letters as they went.

Ben Stewart, 34, of Lyminge, Kevin Drake, 44, of Wiltshire, Huw Williams, 41, of Nottingham, Will Rose, 29, of London, and Emily Hall, 34, from New Zealand, were all charged with causing criminal damage.

Tim Hewke, 48, from Ulcombe, was accused of organising the protest from the ground and faced the same charge.

Harvest Festival is for the animals too

TO celebrate Harvest Festival, over the weekend of September 27-28, Port Lympne Wild Animal Park is asking visitors to bring with them items that can be fed to the animals.

Suggestions include bananas, apples, raisins, monkey nuts, courgettes, oranges, carrots, bread, cabbage and corn on the cob.

Any child under 16 bringing along an item from the list will get entry to the park for just £1, although they must be accompanied by an adult.

There will be a programme of educational talks over the weekend and at set times visitors will be able to watch the animals being fed a selection of food that has been donated.

Harvest Festival is traditionally a celebration of food grown on the land. Traditionally in churches throughout the country people bring offerings that are then distributed in the local community.

This year it can offer the opportunity for people to donate produce and see it being put to use for a variety of animals.

... but party animals mess up nature site

RAVERS caused damage to a Site of Special Scientific Interest when they held an illegal party.

Sugar Loaf Hill near Folkestone was left littered with bottles, tents, other rubbish and the remnants of fires.

The White Cliffs Countryside Project, which manages the site, said this was an ongoing problem which occurred frequently at weekends and also on some midweek nights.

The chalkland is a special habitat for wildlife and grasses, which all suffer because of the gatherings.

Small animals and vegetation are burnt by the fires in a site recognised for its importance by environmentalists across Europe.

The latest incident occurred on the last weekend of August and anyone with information is asked to contact the police.

Legion's display for Poppy Appeal funds

THE Royal British Legion is set to stage a display at Folkestone Rugby Club to raise funds for this year's Poppy Appeal – the major source of funds for its work in assisting former members of the armed services.

There will be bands from the navy, army and air cadets, who will also show off their marching and parade ground skills.

The event will take place on Friday, September 26, from 7pm to 9.30pm and a bar and food will be available to spectators.

Merger could revive college's flagging status

SOUTH Kent College is set to be the first in the country to embrace an innovative new merger strategy which could transform its fortunes in just three years.

And if governors take the step, it will see one of the country's top-performing establishments take over the college's management and be paid to implement a pioneering short-term plan.

Having been slated in a report by the Government school inspectorate Ofsted earlier this year as "inadequate", the college has instigated a major overhaul of its services.

Among its decisions was to draft in an experienced interim principal, Monica Box, who specialises in turning around the fortunes of failing colleges, and consider an option to merge.

Criticised

It comes after Ofsted severely criticised achievement, management and financial handling of the college, which serves more than 14,000 full- and part-time students and has campuses in Ashford, Folkestone and Dover.

Governors will make a decision on Monday, September 29, with three options on the table – including two to merge.

The first is with Tonbridge-based West Kent College. Seen as a traditional merger, it would see SKC come under the umbrella of West Kent, possibly change its name, and see all management switched to Tonbridge.

But a more intriguing option is with Sussex Downs – a college in Lewes, East Sussex, which is presenting a "strategic alliance". With Sussex Downs given an 'outstanding' rating for leadership and management in its last inspection, the proposal would see the college sign a contract for three to five years to draft in its management team to take over SKC's running.

Crucially, Sussex Downs would be paid for the service, which would be reviewed at the end of each year and payment made only if targets have been hit.

At the end of the three years, the college would resume under its own management and, hopefully, build on the success.

Such a step would be likely welcomed by the Government and the Learning Skills Council – which funds further education – which has recently expressed a preference for seeing more innovative strategies rather than straight mergers which create one sprawling college.

The other option is to stay as a separate entity and look to overcome its difficulties with no external assistance.

Principal Monica Box told Yourshepway: "I think both options have great benefits, and this is the difficulty facing the governing body.

"I think merger is still a very good option and the other option is as well. In some ways it was easier for the governing body when it was just a question of merger and who to do that with. Now they have the opportunity of merger or something else.

"We are very fortunate we are the first college in the country to have such a choice put before us."

FAYE STEPS INTO EVA'S SHOES

Over The Rainbow is a musical which tells the dramatic life story of Eva Cassidy and it comes to Folkestone's Leas Cliff Hall on Monday, October 6.

Faye Tozer from Steps stars as the production following Eva's life from her early days and first forays into music up until her untimely death, with live renditions of her most famous music including a haunting interpretation of the hit Somewhere Over the Rainbow.

Man is held under Terrorism Act

POLICE questioning a man under the Terrorism Act in Hawkinge have searched a kebab shop in Dover.

Forensic officers spent yesterday morning (Tuesday) at Dolphin Kebabs in Dover high street as well as a fish and chip shop in Hawkinge.

A man is being held in custody after being arrested on Monday at 8am as he drove in Spitfire Way.

A police spokesman said he was being held on suspicion of being engaged in the commission, preparation or instigation of an act of terrorism.

Investigations have also been carried out in Curlew Place, Hawkinge.

Fast-acting fire crews prevent a calamity in Tunnel

A DISASTER was narrowly averted when fire broke out on a truck carried on a Channel Tunnel train – close to another vehicle containing toxic chemicals.

Fire crews from both sides of the Channel fought the blaze for 17 hours before it was fully under control.

Services were suspended after the fire on a shuttle train in the north tunnel close to the French coast.

Fire engines from Kent stations raced to the terminal on this side of the Channel after the alarm was raised at 2.55pm on Thursday last week.

An over-heated brake on a lorry is thought to have exploded, igniting a tyre on board a truck. Flames then spread to the cab.

A major crisis was averted when the flames failed to spread to a nearby lorry with a chemical load.

The substance carried on board was phenol, also known as carboic acid.

Highly toxic, it was used as a method of execution by the Nazis during the Second World War. Just one gramme when injected can be fatal, but it is also used in cosmetics and sunscreen and in the production of medicinal drugs and herbicides.

It is also a significant component in the aroma of Islay Scottish whisky.

Experts say the Tunnel narrowly avoided a major disaster as temperatures soared to 1,000 centigrade.

A French police spokesman said: "It was a very serious fire. The truck caught light with disastrous consequences.

"Prompt action by fire-fighters prevented what could have been a far worse incident."

Emergency crews used the central access tunnel to reach the scene of the fire within minutes of the alarm being sounded.

A total of 32 drivers was evacuated, with six treated for smoke inhalation. A further eight suffered minor injuries in the scramble to escape.

A number of train staff also made their way to safety.

No news is good news for Dave

REPORTS of dolphins being spotted off Shepway are not necessarily indications that tourist favourite Dave is back.

The female bottlenose was popular with visitors last year before vanishing.

She was also involved in an accident which damaged her fin.

Reports of sightings have been broadcast locally in recent days, but the British Marine Divers Association says it is too early to say anything for certain.

A spokeswoman said: "The dolphin known as Dave is of a distinct type – a bottlenose.

"Now we have had some reports of dolphin sightings, but these have not been the correct species.

"Until we have a confirmed sighting, we cannot say if Dave is back or not.

"But no news is good news in many ways – certainly no body has been washed up and no dolphin observed dead in the water."

Gardens a sorry state, says Gary

KINGSNORTH Gardens in Folkestone are in a "sorry state" and spoilt by broken glass, according to a local councillor.

Gary Fuller was visiting the gardens when he noticed the mess. Fearing that children might be injured picking up the glass, he reported the mess to Shepway Council's Lifeline, which handles out-of-hours emergencies.

He said: "It's disappointing that this has happened again barely a year after I was assured that the gardens were being kept clean. I have to wonder if they are being locked at night and properly monitored for anti-social behaviour.

"It really saddens me that anyone can have so little respect for our town and the safety of young children."

THE CRANES CAME DOWN

They're called common cranes, but there's nothing common about these spectacular visitors to Dungeness RSPB reserve – at least on British shores.

The pair were first seen flying over the reserve's ARC Pit on August 23 and then spent more than three weeks in the area, finally departing on Sunday (September 14).

The appearance of the undeniably impressive birds – their wingspan is greater than a golden eagle's – was welcome enough, but it would have been even more exciting had it been in spring.

This is because the pair danced and trumpeted together – normally a prelude to breeding. The fact that it occurred in autumn ruled out such an event on this occasion, but it's certainly not out of the question in the future.

The species was extinct as a breeding species in the UK from the 1700s to the 1980s, when nesting resumed in East Anglia.

This year four pairs bred in the UK – a tiny number, but one that gives hope that such sights might one day be widespread enough for us all to enjoy.

Villagers fighting to have 'challenging' warden back

■ BY NICK AMES

FURIOUS villagers in Smeeth, Aldington and Brabourne are fighting to get their community warden reinstated after former Met Police officer Bob Hughes was dismissed.

His ideas for fighting crime were deemed "too challenging" and he fell foul of health and safety regulations because he rode his own bicycle.

He also wanted to live among the villagers he served rather than people five miles away.

Mr Hughes, who served with the police during the Broadwater Farm and poll tax riots, became a community warden working for Kent County Council two days after leaving the force.

But six months into his role, he was told he would no longer be required as he was "too challenging".

Mr Hughes was told health and safety rules meant he had to be trained on a council vehicle and he must live outside a five-mile boundary around his 80-square mile patch.

"They said I was too challenging. I accept I am a direct person, but this is absolutely astounding," he said.

John Moreton, vice-chairman of Brabourne Parish Council, is among those fighting for his return.

He said: "When I heard the news I was – in the words of another villager – incandescent with rage. This decision was made without any reference to the people of this village and the others around. It is undemocratic, high-handed and the message we are getting back is that it is irreversible. Well, we don't accept that.

"I've not experienced such strong feeling in this village since it was threatened with being cut in half by the high-speed rail link.

"County Hall is paid by us and should be accountable to us."

Mr Moreton praised Mr Hughes's contribution to community life.

He said: "He proved to be what one would expect of a warden but is so infrequently encountered.

"He immersed himself in local life, he was aware of what was going on and he dealt with problems. That is what we all wanted."

Mr Hughes was told he would have to receive formal training to use his bike and he accepted this. But he was then told the policy was to train two wardens at one time and no one else needed training.

KCC called the situation "a personnel matter" and said the search for a replacement was under way.

Marilyn Howell, head of operations for Kent Community Wardens, said: "When we take on a new warden, we have to consider many important aspects and the decision not to confirm Mr Hughes's contract was only taken after much deliberation and with justifiable reason.

Mr Hughes said: "If they want to reinstate me, I will start tomorrow."

The Folkestone Triennial undoubtedly put the town on the map as a place of culture – but what did it mean for local people involved in tourism and the arts?

MAGGIE MARSHALL

• Maggie Marshall is a local artist who has just finished staging an exhibition in aid of charity Action for Children in a gallery along the Old High Street.

"The artworks were very interesting, but you did have to search them out," she said.

"But that was good – it made people look around the town and spot things they may not have noticed before. The exhibits were quite thought-provoking. I loved those that were covered by the tide at some time and then revealed as the water went back.

"It was all good for the town and generated a lot of interest. I liked the bikes with speakers on them. The smaller, more unusual, exhibits were my favourite."

RICKEY PYE

• Ricky Pye runs Chummys seafood stall on the harbour.

"It didn't have much effect on me, really. I didn't feel there was a centre to it. A lot of people I know were not impressed and thought there would be a lot more to it than there actually was.

"You might see one of the mobile works down here one day and then it would be gone. There was no way of knowing what was happening where. It was too random, it needed to be more structured."

SHANE RECORD

• Shane Record is an artist who has a studio in the Old High Street.

"I thought it brought a lot of people in who had either never been to the town before or not been in a long while. It will pay dividends as a lot of people were impressed and said they would return.

"They also picked up on the regeneration which is going on with the Creative Quarter."

ABIGAIL VARIAN

• Abigail Varian was a volunteer who worked throughout the event promoting the festival.

"I think it reached people who lived locally and came to visit. I helped run the kite stall on the Leas and acted as a guide when necessary.

"People responded very well and I certainly enjoyed it as a creative enterprise."

Art attack registers worldwide

■ BY NICK AMES

THE Triennial focused attention on Folkestone and its regeneration across the artistic world.

Articles about the event appeared in newspapers across the UK, in Europe and as far away as Tokyo and New York.

There were also pieces on television and radio about the event.

Signs drew visitors from the central station into the centre of town and down to the seafront and in the early days of the event railway staff reported a noticeable increase in visitors, especially on trains down from London.

Initially those behind the plan were very surprised at the amount of interest that the event generated.

Upsurge

The economic impact on businesses is still being calculated, but many cafés, pubs, restaurants and bars reported increased takings in what weather-wise was a very average summer.

Websites such as Discover Folkestone also reported an upsurge in usage, with numbers of hits greater than ever before.

Shepway council leader Cllr Robert Bliss said: "The Triennial has brought in people from all over the UK, as well as internationally, helping to boost local business over the summer months.

"Although the final evaluation studies of

Late doners are a goner after ruling

A KEBAB house in Deal has had its hours cut after a campaign by residents and the town council.

Deal Kebab and Pizza House in the high street had been put under review after reports of anti-social behaviour by some customers.

It was decided that its 3am closing time should be changed to 1am on Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays, but the owner, Mehmet Gurbuz, lodged an appeal and the original opening hours continued.

But at a hearing at Folkestone court on Thursday last week the judge ruled that the rights of residents were being denied and that the hours should be cut.

Cllr Bryan Henderson of Deal Town Council said he was "ecstatic" with the outcome and that residents will be "over the moon".

He said: "The owner lost his appeal. We believe the trouble will die down from now on. People don't actually want establishments in Deal to close down, so it's all got to be done carefully."

"We've still got to generate income into the town, but we need to find a happy medium." Deal Town Council launched the campaign following reports of trouble including violence, noise and kebabs being pushed through letter-boxes. Dover District Council supported the campaign.

Tony Bartlett, licensing manager at the district council, said: "This is not about stopping business in the town, but licensed places like this are flashpoints for disturbance and nuisance. A shop like this can be managed well by controlling trouble outside."

A court hearing in June was adjourned after Mr Gurbuz was unable to attend, but he also failed to attend the second one last week.

Mr Bartlett said: "Mr Gurbuz's solicitor applied for an adjournment on medical grounds, but it was denied. The solicitor was unable to put a case forward and no one was there to represent the owner."

"He can't appeal again now."

QUESTION & ANSWER

TONY STOCKWELL

Q How does the stage show work?

A I field the information from the spirit world in front of the audience. I'll say, for example, there's a person here, a man, he's 45 years old, a former builder, and maybe give a name.

I will ask anyone in the audience if they know who that could be and wait for a reaction.

If someone puts their hand up, the cameraman on stage will focus on them and we will explore any connection.

Q When were you first aware of your psychic gift?

A It manifested itself when I was small, but I didn't really recognise it for what it was. I thought everyone could hear voices and had visions.

I have even had occasions when someone has appeared in front of me and I can see them just as clearly as if they were a living person.

Q How did you explore what was happening around you and to you?

A I went to a spiritualist church when I was 16 and saw all these other people doing things with the spirit world.

Things happening to me suddenly became clearer. After a while I was asked to join in with a group of mediums.

Q Did that help you to develop your abilities?

A Certainly, yes it did. The best analogy I can think of is as a young person you might be able to run fast – but you need training if you are to develop that ability and turn into a proper athlete.

Q How do people react around you?

A Sometimes when people say they are an architect or whatever, I just say I organise seminars, which I actually do. When I get to know people, I explain I do. Also I respect other people's religions and beliefs, so I am always slightly reserved.

Q Do you ever receive information which you feel is too traumatic for a person to hear?

A Sometimes yes, the amount of abuse and hurt which goes on is astonishing. I never reveal that in public, but I talk privately to people after the evening sessions.

I will then tell them what I have received, but I still make sure it will 'enable' rather than 'disable' the person concerned.

Q How do you feel about recent legislation which says mediums and clairvoyants should be regarded as entertainers?

A If it protects people from being exploited, then I'm all for it. I do what it says on the ticket and I have never had any complaints. If unscrupulous people are put off by new laws, then that is all to the good. I make no fake claims and I have never had the need to.

Q How do you feel the spirit world is portrayed on film or TV? Things like The X-Files and The Sixth Sense or Blair Witch certainly make people take notice of the occult, don't they?

A Yes, they do. In some ways it's good as people are thinking of the possibility of life after death, but they are very much drama. They don't really represent the true spirit world.

For instance, I have never seen or felt anything that shocked or alarmed me or ever made me worried.

What I feel happens is that a positive reunion takes place of those who have gone before. That can be very helpful to people who for some reason fear the afterlife, which they should not.

Q How can people find out more?

A At my website, www.tonystockwell.com, and of course they are welcome to come along. The evenings are joyous and happy, sometimes funny and there is the potential to show life exists beyond physical death. Someone who receives a connection can have a very great change in their life.

Who will be the queen of teens?

BY CHRIS MURPHY

A WAITRESS, two students and a pet shop worker are all vying for places in the final of a national teen modelling competition.

The four girls from Kent are in the fight to become Teen Queen UK 2009 after successfully passing through preliminary rounds.

They now need the public to vote for them so they can advance to the next stage.

Nicole Harris, 19, from Queenborough on the Isle of Sheppey, Melissa Kimber, 17, from Ashford, Emily Martin, 18, from Gravesend, and Micha Kelly, 17, from Rainham, have beaten off hundreds of other hopefuls.

Nicole, a student at the Mandy Ellen Performing Arts College in Maidstone, said: "I need public votes to secure a place in the final, so I am trying to drum up some support."

"This all started when I was selected as Miss Sheppey 2006. I then went on to win other titles like Court of Kent Princess 2007, UK Carnival Queen 2007 at Disneyland Resort Paris, Team England Miss Euroregion 2007, Miss Elegance at Miss Media Models 2008, 2nd Runner-up at Miss Teen Beauty Queen London 2008, and was a finalist at the Miss Teen Beauty Queen England last year. I would love to add Miss Teen Queen to my resume."

She added: "I enjoy entering these contests - they also show that some of us are not out on the streets vandalising things."

Melissa, who was a Miss Ashford Princess last year, works in PetSmart.

She said: "I want to be a model and I love meeting people and being a representative, so I would love to win this contest."

Micha is a student at Chatham Grammar

School for Girls. She said: "I would love to do catwalk modelling, but I am not really tall enough for that."

"So I am looking to get into commercial modelling for products in magazines. I entered the Miss Teen Queen contest for some extra experience. I really am keen to learn all I can about the business."

Emily is a waitress and is studying childcare at college. She said: "I want to get in to modelling. I have relatives who are in the business and it looks like a brilliant life."

"I want to do fashion modelling in particular. I am trying to be confident of going through to the next round - it's my dream to win because I think it will open some doors to a modelling career. It will make me more confident too."

Director Lina Perrini said: "The UK finals are next summer, so all the Kent girls have plenty of time to keep their fingers crossed."

• To vote for one of the girls, use a mobile to text her first and last name to 84205. Calls cost 60p plus standard network charge, and voters need to be over 18 and have the bill payer's permission.

JACK: Jake Hendricks stars in the Hazlitt pantomime

Make a song and dance over audition

DANCERS can audition this weekend for a chance to perform alongside Hollyoaks star Jake Hendricks in a panto.

New World Productions is searching for male and female dancers to appear in the Christmas run of Jack and the Beanstalk at the Hazlitt Theatre in Maidstone.

Mr Hendricks, also known as Father Kieron Hobbs from the popular teen soap Hollyoaks, will take the lead role as Jack.

Also in the production is Tom Swift, who will play Simple Simon and Michael Fenton Stevens, who plays Mr Griffith in BBC show My Family, as Dame Trott.

Auditions will take place this Sunday at the Hazlitt Arts Centre in Earl Street, Maidstone. Dancers need to be available during the Christmas period as the show runs from November 29 to January 4.

The registration for eight to nine-year-olds will be at 10am, for ten to 11-year-olds will be at midday, for 12 to 13-year-olds will be 2pm, for 14 to 15-year-olds will be 4pm and dancers aged 16 and above need to sign in at 5pm.

The auditions are expected to be popular, so anyone interested is advised to arrive before their registration time and be prepared to queue.

Awards recognise those serving their community

■ BY NICK AMES

THE county's Chief Constable Michael Fuller, along with Ann Barnes, chair of the Kent Police Authority, honoured those who were making a difference in their communities as they hosted the Safer Kent Awards 2008 event on Friday.

Winners and runners-up from across the county were acknowledged for their work and were presented with a cheque for a community project of their choice.

Appreciate

Police Community Support Officers, Special Constables, Neighbourhood Watch volunteers and wardens were all recognised for making a real difference to neighbourhoods and improving the quality of life of local residents.

Nominations came from people who realised the effect those working to assist others were having locally.

Ann Barnes, chair of the Kent Police Authority said: "This is all about saying thank you to people who work hard to improve lives of residents. Sometimes we have to take a step back and appreciate the work these people do on a daily basis. There are people in addition to regular police officers that improve quality of life of residents and most importantly play a role in keeping neighbourhoods a safe place.

"In today's world we are all too often quick to complain and judge, so I'm pleased the Police Authority can find a way to say thank you.

"It's fantastic to host an event like this. I would like to say thank you to all the companies that gave donations and our main sponsors."

WINNERS LIST

• EAST KENT AND OVERALL WINNER: KCC warden Malcolm Wells has been in post since December 2004 and looks after Ringwood and Kingsdown villages. He is well known at local schools and writes a regular column in the community newsletter.

A member of the Youth Offending Service obtained £7000 funding for a new Kick Wall in the Kingsdown Recreation Ground to give young people something to do. He has recently taken on the appointment of chairman to the Kingsdown Village Hall committee.

• WEST KENT WINNERS: KCC warden Janet Greenroyd, 57, who looks after the villages of Sissinghurst, Benenden, Frittenden.

Janet set up a gardening scheme in Cranbrook in a bid to reduce the risk of elderly people becoming victims of bogus callers. She has also played a key role in setting up a 'walking bus' scheme in Benenden.

KCC warden Chris Lomax has looked after Staplehurst for the last three years. Instrumental in reopening the local youth club he has helped secure funding for the Staplehurst Arts Festival.

• SOUTH KENT WINNER: Neighbourhood Watch volunteer David Alford for his work in Lydd.

He acts as company secretary for the Kent County Neighbourhood Watch Association and is a principle fundraiser.

He was instrumental in producing a Kent Police Services Level Agreement, ensuring a future partnership between Neighbourhood Watch and Kent Police – the first agreement of its kind in the country.

• MEDWAY WINNER: Special Constable Paul Butler has been in the role for the last eight and a half years.

Special Constables are expected to dedicate 16 hours a month of their own time – unpaid. But Paul is clocking up an exceptional average of 80 – 100 hours a month – all in his own time and on top of his day job as a Kent Highways street lighting engineer.

Thrills, spills and top music as Days for Heroes raises important funds

CHART sensations Girls Aloud and comedian Peter Kay will send special video messages to support this weekend's Days for Heroes event at the County Showground in Detling.

Topping the bill at the event are chart-toppers McFly with 80s solo star Nik Kershaw also on the bill.

The Red Arrows are scheduled to fly overhead during the concert on Sunday, September 21. The event has been set up to raise money for and awareness of the plight injured servicemen and women face on their return from active service.

Also making an appearance will be double Olympic gold-winning athlete Dame Kelly Holmes, Extras and EastEnders star Shaun Williamson, comedian Peter Kay, and TV presenter and ex-Bucks Fizz singer Cheryl Baker.

Performance

Jeff Silbar, co-writer of the ballad Wind Beneath My Wings, will be making a special appearance to give a moving performance of the song with soul diva Jocelyn Brown.

The ballad holds particular importance with Help for Heroes as its chorus "Did you ever know that you're my hero" has become an anthem for the charity.

Music gets under way at 3pm with McFly ending the show with a 100-minute set at 8.40pm.

There will also be a host of attractions for those attending, with traditional rides for those with younger children, and a funfair sporting more than 20 free rides including the 'reverse bungee power shot' for adrenaline junkies.

All the music, funfair rides and the military attractions are included in the £25 ticket price or £14 for children. Visit www.daysforheroes.com to see full listings and buy advance tickets.

Children return to their own school

LYMPNE Primary School has reopened its door almost two years after a fire destroyed the building.

More than 200 pupils were evacuated and no one injured after the flames were spotted coming from a light fitting.

After the fire, children were taught at Port Lympe Wild Animal Park, which laid on special classes. They were then accommodated temporarily at St Mary's Westbrook in Folkestone, while the school was rebuilt.

The new school has been enlarged and has bigger classrooms, an ICT area and a library.

Royal visitor for academy

HRH The Duke of Kent made an official visit to The Folkestone Academy on Wednesday last week to see what goes on in the classrooms of one of the county's newest educational establishments.

The visit comes just over a year after the academy opened its doors for the first time and provided an opportunity for him to meet staff and students and to see at first hand the first-class teaching environment that the academy provides.

Designed by Foster and Partners, the £38 million Folkestone Academy is sponsored by the former chairman of Saga, Roger De Haan, and The King's School, Canterbury.

This was the first year of the school and it reported good results in GCSEs and for the first full year of its sixth form.

The school's acting principal Louise McGowan said it had had a very good year, despite the untimely death of its principal John Patterson.

"Everyone has worked very hard," she said. "This year will be important as it will see the results for those students who have been with the sixth form since the school opened."

Each week we get a local writer to air their views on the issues of the day

Global warming could just be the real Doomsday scenario

WELL we are all still here – even with the so-called Doomsday Machine in full cry.

It was meant to rip the universe to shreds in true Dr Who fashion, but it seems as though nothing happened.

That is of course unless the BBC do run a show featuring a race against time as the Doctor fights to prevent aliens from infiltrating the project and causing the end of everything – actually quite a good idea and if I see a TV Dr Who special on the subject next year I shall be claiming royalties.

But my point is that we heard yet another scare which proved to be completely unremarkable.

There have been so many in recent years. First we were all going to die of CJD. Mass bonfires littered the countryside as cattle were burnt. Livelihoods of farmers were ruined, the French started banning anything and everything from these shores and the media went mad when someone was diagnosed with a mystery illness.

I do remember that there was forecast that anyone who ate a burger at any time had a chance of dying. But what happened?

After all the scares, literally nothing. The whole thing just went away.

Not quite as quickly as the salmonella egg scare which seemed to only affect the then Tory politician Edwina Currie. But it went away all the same.

To me these sort of media inspired frighteners are the modern equivalent of witch trials or rumours of dragons out to ravage the countryside. They are a sort of modern day superstition and taken seriously by everyone.

There are so many examples I can think of. What about the Y2K Millennium bug. That was meant to make planes fall out of the sky, hospitals run out of power, etc, etc...

I even remember one claim that nuclear missiles would be automatically launched at midnight wiping out mankind.

Or was that Terminator Three?

But this has a serious side to it. That is people get so used to hearing scare stories and listening to earnest men – usually men anyway – talking about doom and gloom and worst case scenarios. So what do they do when there is a real threat – pretty much ignore it.

After all it's going to go away just as the others did, right? Sadly this is not always the case.

Al Gore had it right when he made his film An Inconvenient Truth. The evidence for climate change is all around us.

And it's not just wet/hot summers in the UK. It is obvious the polar ice caps are melting. There is evidence to prove it with mass ice caps drifting south and polar bears swimming for their lives miles from shore when caught on drifting ice.

But thanks to the way that scares have been put over in the last few years there are still people not taking it seriously. The attitude seems to be experts were wrong about the rest of them, why should we believe this latest one.

But just because the so-called experts were wrong then it does not mean they are wrong when it comes to global warming.

Become a Partner with Kent's Company of the Year

Have you ever watched The Dragon's Den where a simple but brilliant idea is presented and you sit there watching thinking "I wish I'd thought of that or could at least be part of it?"

Well, we had that same eureka moment almost two years ago, long before the current property market decline and since then we have been developing and moulding our ideas for the future into an award winning business model.

Our winning concept works even in these difficult market conditions and will have we believe as big an impact on our sector as the iPod had on the music industry.

If you would like to share in the secrets of our tried and tested formula which has set our business apart, then you'll probably already have the entrepreneurial spirit that it takes to become a business owner/partner with Miles & Barr. If you are prepared to put hard work, commitment and investment behind your ability and have the vision to see what a great opportunity this is, then you could be one of the partner's we are looking for. Whether you come from an estate agency background or not, you will need to come with an open mind and without any preconceived ideas.

We believe that the old estate agency format is dying and that once you have seen our successful formula, you to will have your own eureka moment, just like those entrepreneurs in The Dragon's Den.

WIN a kids' gardening set with Timotei

TO celebrate the change of seasons, we have teamed up with Timotei to offer one lucky reader the chance to win a gardening set for your little ones to enjoy.

Timotei is the original nature-inspired hair-care brand, and the gardening set will help your child to reconnect with nature. We also have two runners up prizes consisting of the Timotei range to giveaway.

The prize includes a lightweight wheelbarrow, tool belt, garden hand trowel, fork and spade set, plus a garden kneeler pad and apron. You'll also receive a pair of Wellingtons for all the family* – perfect for kicking leaves around and splashing in puddles.

With the change of seasons comes a drop in temperature, central heating, strong winds and rain – all of which can play havoc with your hair – leaving it dry and lifeless.

Luckily for you and your family, Timotei is also giving away its complete range of five shampoo and conditioners which contain herb, plant and fruit extracts to nourish and care for every type of hair. This also includes new Timotei Softening Oat Milk & Peach.

As part of Timotei's commitment to nurturing nature they are partnering with the Woodland Trust to create 25 acres of forest of flowers in the UK. For further information on forest of flowers sites and woodland areas near you see www.woodland-trust.org.uk.

To be in with a chance of winning a seasonal set, simply answer the question below and send your entry on a postcard along with your e-mail address (if applicable), name, address, and daytime telephone number to Timotei Comp, KOS Media, Apple Barn, Smeeth, Ashford, Kent, TN25 6SR.

TALK TIME

NICK EWBANK

The director of the Creative Foundation talks about his aim to turn Folkestone into a thriving cultural centre

Why do you think Folkestone has such potential as a cultural centre – what makes the town special?
Folkestone has a long history as a cultural centre: HG Wells, Marcel Duchamp, Agatha Christie, Samuel Beckett and Jimi Hendrix all spent time here.

It has got great architecture, a superb natural environment on its doorstep, fabulous light and of course the sea. And from 2009 the high-speed rail link will put us just an hour from London.

What do you personally like most about the town and what are your personal highlights when it comes to working locally?

My ten-minute cycle ride to work through the Lower Leas Coastal Park on a sunny morning has got to be one of the all-time great commutes. Plus excellent schools, the sea on our doorstep and a really friendly community spirit.

What artistic creations remain in the town after the Triennial and do you have a message for the creative people who have taken part?

Artists and their galleries have been incredibly generous. Mark Wallinger's Folk Stones, Tracey Emin's Baby Things and Patrick Tuffaut's Folkestone sign remain in town.

How will you build on the success of the event?

We're already beginning the planning for Triennial Two, which will take place in 2011.

For this first Triennial we were pretty much inventing the format as we went along.

For T2 we have an established model and a great track record – and we want to make sure the local community is even more involved right from the outset, through education and outreach work and through young people having the chance to work with Triennial artists.

YOUR LETTERS

Eurostar gives out with one hand but takes with another

Eurostar intends to restore, from December, one direct train each way between Ashford and Brussels most days of the week.

I will happily drive my husband to the station for 6am to catch it. However, there are no trains early enough to make the connection for passengers from Canterbury, Maidstone or Hastings.

Nor will the 6.27am stop at Lille. The EuroDisney train is also moving one hour later, so Ashford passengers hoping for Lille connections to the Continent will miss most of them.

Tour companies will therefore be forced to continue to use Ebbsfleet.

On Saturday, the train will depart Ashford at 8.28am, but there will be no return until 5pm on a Sunday. Thus a day trip to Brussels will be impossible at the weekend.

Furthermore, from December, the 8.59am from Brussels will no longer stop at Lille.

This currently connects with the 10.09am Lille-London service, which stops at Ashford, the only train which permits travellers from Brussels or Lille to reach Ashford in the morning. There is no possibility of a day trip to Ashford.

Business people will be forced to stay longer than two nights, which in the present economic climate will be increasingly difficult. Thus we are also losing another valuable service and people who live in Europe gain nothing.

I am delighted that passenger numbers and revenue are up overall. As a Scot, I am overjoyed that there are encouraging offers for those who live farther afield than the home counties.

However, I am appalled that the company should continue to downgrade Ashford to promote a station which cannot even be accessed by train.

Eurostar never said Ashford was making a loss. It simply took all four of our direct Brussels services and most of the Paris ones in order to promote Ebbsfleet.

Eurostar was quoted recently in Modern Railways as saying that Ebbsfleet station is "fully meeting expectations". Why then have I been told that one-third of the security staff were made redundant from this month?

Last year, Eurostar claimed that up to two-thirds of Ashford's passengers would move to Ebbsfleet. That would mean that at least 250,000 former Ashford passengers should have used it since November last year.

I would contest that. Passenger observations still say that Ashford entrains more passengers on its four trains per day than Ebbsfleet on its 12.

Furthermore, has the massive TV advertising campaign, two-for-the-price-of-one offers, free drive-in movies in the car park over the bank holiday and sponsorship of a local football team been to no avail?

Last year at the EU, Bob Holden of LCR insisted that Eurostar's remit had nothing to do with regeneration when we pointed out that it had a vital role to play in Ashford.

In a railway publication in September last year he boasted that Eurostar would bring £10 billion of regeneration to Ebbsfleet, where I have been told building work has ceased.

The following questions have been asked recently:
DISPOSAL OF LCR AND LCSP ASSETS – What is the public interest?

I think the question needs to be asked. What is the Government receiving from the profits from development of the landholdings and property interests that are vested in London and Continental Stations and Property (LCSP)?

What is the public entitled to expect in the way of ownership and income from these developments in the long term? The developments are taking place at such sites as Ebbsfleet, Stratford and St Pancras.

EUROSTAR SERVICE DECISIONS – Is there a case for Government intervention?

The other more locally significant question: is Eurostar an independent business operating in its own best interests? Or are the property interests of its parent company influencing it to make operational decisions that benefit the parent (LCR and LCSP) and are not in the best long-term interests of Eurostar or its passengers?

The Minister for Transport has given us a reason for not intervening over the transfer of European services from Ashford to Ebbsfleet that such matters are commercial decisions for Eurostar.

If LCR is manipulating Eurostar to act uncommercially, is there not a case for intervention?

My great fear is that when the Hitachi comes into service, we will be forced to go up to Ebbsfleet to access our Eurostar.

This is a nonsense. People should be encouraged to come down contra peak flow to Ashford to do just that. Then at least we would all be going in the intended direction of travel.

Store's car park charge a fee too far

There is a proposal to increase parking charges at Sainsbury's car park in Deal from September 30.

The charge for one hour will rise to £1, for two hours to £2 and for three hours to £3.

Only the first hour will be reimbursed. It's not surprising that this proposal has received hardly any publicity.

The effect will be to discourage many visitors and residents from going to our smaller shops once they have done their shopping.

At a time when the economy of the town centre is increasingly fragile, this is the last thing we need.

We as a group will be promoting the Keep Trade Local campaign – it is essential to keep parking charges as reasonable as possible to keep people from doing their shopping out of town.

I hope that as many people as

Return our warden to his rightful place

Having heard about Robert Hughes's contract not being renewed as our local warden, we would like to point out that we felt he was absolutely brilliant in his role.

He engaged with all the children very quickly, demanding a huge amount of respect.

He is extremely well liked by parents, teachers and children at Aldington Primary School and we believe it would be a great loss for him not to continue in his role.

To gain children's respect and trust at primary level can only be beneficial to them and the community as they grow and potentially become 'troublesome' teenagers.

While his manner may have been more 'official' and 'challenging' (due to his professional background) than past wardens, there can surely be nothing wrong in trying to ensure our children grow up in a safe and law-abiding environment in which they know the difference between right and wrong.

It would be a great sadness to lose a warden of such high calibre and we write on behalf of all children, parents and friends of Aldington Primary School in asking for Mr Hughes to be reinstated by KCC as soon as possible.

Surely as a community we need to feel comfortable that we have an effective community warden in our area, one our children can look up to and talk to and one that as adults we believe to be the best man for the job.

Sally Newall

We will not get the hospital we deserve

Thank you to the people of Dover, Deal, Sandwich and surrounding areas for your support in either marching or the 30,000 signatures calling for a general hospital.

I have made many friends during this period. I am very sorry that we will not get the hospital at Whitfield, with wards and services that we need for the 21st century.

It was agreed 50 years ago this hospital should have been built on land now occupied by the offices of Dover District Council.

We lost two hospitals – the Royal Victoria in London Road in May 1992 and the eye hospital in Noah's Ark Road in April 1996.

The Eastern and Coastal Kent Primary Care Trust obviously must still think we have too many services in Dover as it is closing Buckland and then building at Maison Dieu Road a budget hospital with only a few of the services we now have.

Condition of our roads is driving me potty

The road lines which people thought were modern art are clearly just another example of incompetence when it comes to the Highways Agency.

It has have never managed to fill in pot-holes in Folkestone ever since I have lived here and driven around the area.

So the fact it cannot paint a straight line is of no surprise at all.

Henry Ellison

Get foreign truckers off our highways

The fact that the M20 is top of the list for lorry accidents is really no surprise at all.

It is surely due to one fact alone – the amount of foreign lorries that use it. They have no idea of traffic safety and seem to think nothing of undertaking and cutting up motorists.

If police want to get the number of accidents down, the answer is simple. Get the Continental truckers off our roads

Max Smith
Folkestone

Is nothing safe from health and safety?

As usual, health and safety laws get in the way of people trying to do something constructive.

I refer to last week's story about the Dr Syn festival, where the actor portraying the role was forced to just walk. Is there anything the killjoys won't touch?

You're sure to slim with this help

■ Sureslim, Folkestone

WORKING with the body and getting every part the way it should be is what sets the SureSlim clinic in Scrunchy's Hair Salon apart.

The weight and wellness venue in Folkestone's Old High Street is medically backed by fully qualified doctors and nurses.

It has 160 clients, some of whom have achieved their target weight and are maintaining it due to the effective lifestyle programme the clinic offers. Others are still on their way but all are taking advantage of the holistic approach of SureSlim.

Owner Susanne Trokhymenko said: "We work with the body, getting it back to the way it was designed to work. We seek to correct the glucose metabolism by balancing the hormones responsible for weight control.

"We do this by using normal everyday supermarket food.

"We look at customers as individuals – blood test, medical history, medication and food dislikes so we can put together a personal eating plan. We also offer telephone support."

Word of mouth and client referrals are the main way the successes and benefits of the clinic are relayed.

"Most interestingly we offer children's and teenager's programmes," said Susanne. "We want to give them tools for life. We don't just look at their weight but teach a healthy approach to eating, educating them and giving them confidence about their body as they grow into adulthood."

But Susanne said there is one thing her highly professional and caring business cannot do.

"I have been asked if we are able to make people grow in height," she said.

"But that is something we cannot achieve – that's out of our reach."

High street relaxation

■ Halcyon Days

THE shop in Hythe opened on July 1 by Joanne Woodward who has seven years experience as a full qualified and insured therapist.

It is the first holistic products and therapies shop on the high street offering various products including Relax kids, as seen on dragons den, a source of relaxation and meditation aids for children and adults alike.

Also available is mohdodh 'the mouldable medicine', a range of aromatherapy playdough used to treat many ailments in children and adults including insomnia, travel sickness, coughs and colds, lack of concentration and many more.

The shop also stocks a large range of aromatherapy oils which can be used in the bath, in a burner, or massaged into the skin.

Other products include Suki and Laidbare natural skincare which are endorsed by celebrities, suitable for all skin types especially those with eczema, acne as well as young and mature skins. And kind enough for babies too.

Yoga sandals are on sale in a variety of colours and sizes and suitable for men and women, they are good for every day wear, pedicures and promote better balance and body alignment, have straightened toes, improved bunions and joint problems.

There are a large range of crystals including tumble stones, candle holders, pendulums, pendants, agate slices and hematite rings. On the therapy side of things there is 25 per cent off treatments of the month and September's is Indian head massage, great for clearing the mind, headaches and migraines and promoting hair growth.

Well being cards are on offer too, which when five treatments are paid for in advance, you get a sixth free. Everyone is very welcome to pop in and have a no obligation chat or a look around.

Safe & permanent weightloss - finally an end to the dieting cycle

TOP TIPS

Think Slim N Trim

It's the cheese with the burger, the dressing with the salad, the sauce with the meal that will cause weight gain – not the meal itself. If it's not in the cupboard you're unlikely to eat it, so stock up on the healthy foods and snacks at home.

Halcyon Days

Mohdoh Are We There Yet? is a powerful travel sickness remedy that combines aromatherapy, play and colour therapy to create an extremely effective treatment for sea, car or air travel sickness. Helps to relieve boredom and feelings of depression.

Dyson Brown

A top tip to people having their hair done is to go to a reputable salon and experience what a good hair cut is all about. Avoid using mobile hairdressers because you only get what you pay for.

Slumberdown memory foam topper

from just £69.99

Save up to £40

The Snuggly mattress-topper from Slumberdown will transform your sleeping surface, helping you achieve a sound and healthy night's sleep.

It is made from visco-elastic memory foam, originally developed for NASA to provide comfort for astronauts during space flights. The revolutionary foam is weight and temperature sensitive, continuously moulding to your body shape and position in bed, distributing and supporting your weight evenly. It helps avoid pressure points and keeps your spine properly aligned.

Available in standard bed sizes, 2in thick topper simply sits on top of your existing mattress and comes complete with a machine washable Terry Towelling zipped cover. The matching Slumberdown Snuggly Memory Foam pillow is specially contoured to cradle your head at the correct height and alignment.

RELEVANT: The play, Dallas Sweetman, was commissioned and written specifically for the cathedral setting where it will be performed

Life is sweet in the nave

Dramatic setting for new Festival play

A HISTORIC event in theatre will be taking place at Canterbury Cathedral's Nave next week with the staging of a new play, Dallas Sweetman.

The play will make its world premiere in the stunning setting, the result of a unique collaboration and a desire to revive a cherished old tradition. Canterbury Cathedral and Canterbury Festival commissioned the piece with London-based theatre company Paines Plough, resulting in this new play by acclaimed Irish writer Sebastian Barry.

Back in the late 1920s the Friends of the Cathedral started the Canterbury Festival to host an annual series of plays by leading playwrights of the time. TS Eliot's famous Murder in the Cathedral was premiered in the Chapter House in 1935 and remains the benchmark for these productions. It is hoped that the new play for 2008 will breathe new life into that tradition, while making its own mark on 21st century theatre.

The process began when the Dean & Chapter approached the organisers of Canterbury Festival with the idea to produce a new play in 2006. After a lot of research a partnership was formed with Paines Plough, a theatre company specialising in the commissioning and development of new writing. With the company on board, the hunt was on to find someone who could write a very special play. Organisers were looking for a story that could have relevance to the cathedral setting but also captivate a contemporary audience.

Relation

Drawing on his own ancestry for inspiration, Sebastian Barry has created a tale about love and death, desolation, jealousy and miraculous events. Dallas Sweetman is based on a distant relation of Barry's and sees the titular character arriving at Canterbury Cathedral on a pilgrimage in the early 1600s. In a time when Catholicism and Protestantism divided loyalties, Dallas pours out his tale to the audience – his 'judges' – in the hope of justifying his actions. But can his story of pirates, kidnap and drama be believed and can he be forgiven?

Since writing the play, Barry has been short-listed for the prestigious Man Booker Prize for Fiction for his latest novel The Secret Scripture.

A series of special talks will allow audience members to gain a fascinating insight into how the production has been created. There will be a chance to hear Barry talk about his work, as well as the director, cast, music composer and designers. The talks are free for ticket holders and will mostly be held in The International Study Centre in the Cathedral Precincts. Full details are at www.canterburyfestival.co.uk.

Tickets are priced from £12 to £20 and can be booked by calling the festival box office on 01227 378188 or visiting www.canterburyfestival.co.uk. Listings for Canterbury Festival, which runs from October 11 to 25, can also be found on the website.

THE SAMMY RIMINGTON BAND

Friday, September 19
United Reformed Church, Folkestone

ONE of the great names of New Orleans traditional jazz will be bringing his music to Folkestone this week.

The Sammy Rimington Band will be performing a concert of gospel and spiritual music in the New Orleans style, showing why they are world-renowned musicians. Clarinetist Sammy Rimington has performed at all major jazz festivals in Europe and the US and is renowned for making a huge contribution to the genre. His band includes other acclaimed musicians, including Cheriton-based string bass player Trefor Williams.

Rimington has dedicated his life to music, joining the Ken Collier Jazzmen at the age of 18. In the 60s he moved to the US and played at the first New Orleans Jazz and Heritage Festival in 1969. He has played with Chris Barber and Louis Nelson's New Orleans All Stars and has performed and recorded with some of the industry's biggest names.

The concert starts at 7.30pm and tickets cost £10 for adults and £1 for children. For more details call 01303 242694.

DENNIS LOCORRIERE

Saturday, September 27
Leas Cliff Hall, Folkestone

THE 'true voice of Dr Hook' can be experienced live when Dennis Locorriere brings his tour to Kent.

Throughout the 70s and 80s Locorriere's distinctive voice could be heard issuing from record players and radios all around the world when he fronted the hugely successful band. Dr Hook achieved more than 60 gold and platinum records, scoring number one hits in more than 40 countries and winning fans all over the globe with hits like Sylvia's Mother, When You're In Love With A Beautiful Woman and The Ballad of Lucy Jordan.

But his early success was just the start of his musical career. Locorriere has since become a prolific songwriter, with his songs being recorded by artists such as Bob Dylan, Crystal Gayle, Olivia Newton-John, Waylon Jennings, Helen Reddy and Willie Nelson.

Locorriere proved hugely popular when he visited the Orchard last year and this year's The True Voice of Dr Hook on Tour will feature not only his solo work, but the classic songs of Dr Hook.

The show starts at 7.30pm and tickets cost £18.50. To book call the box office on 0844 8471776 or visit www.leascliffhall.org.uk.

THE BIG SKY INTERNATIONAL KITE FESTIVAL

Saturday and Sunday, September 20-21
Main Sands, Margate

THE skies above Margate will be filled with a rainbow of colour when this year's kite extravaganza takes off.

The Big Sky International Kite Festival will welcome an exclusive list of guest flyers from all over the world, flying a diverse array of astounding creations. Talented enthusiasts will be travelling from as far afield as Thailand, Malaysia and New Zealand to take part in the event this weekend.

See large inflatables, soft kites and single line kites riding the breeze and marvel at the aerial ballet displays, stunts, competitions and club displays. Along with the airborne wonders, there will be workshops, stalls and attractions to enjoy.

Participants will include father and son team Bryan and Carl Wright of the UK's Team Spectrum, Close Encounters, French stunt team Les Aisles du Desire and the UK's Air Heads.

The festival, which runs from 10am to 5pm both days, has been organised by Margate Town Partnership and the Kite Society of Great Britain, with the support of Thanet District Council. Find out more by calling 01843 297350 or going online at www.bigskykitefestival.org.uk.

Good Reef, look who's back?

■ BY SIMON ROBINSON

INDIE music, as everyone knows, attained greatness in the mid-90s.

Proper bands such as Oasis, Blur, Pulp, Supergrass and their oft-forgotten contemporaries including Sleeper, Elastica, Mansun and so forth filled the charts week in and week out, leaving little room for manufactured pop rubbish.

Good times indeed.

Unfortunately, the heady days of Brit Pop are all but over, with gangsta rappers, bling-laden r'n'b stars and McFly notching up millions of downloads and ring-tones.

Mercifully, it seems comebacks are making a comeback.

The Police got back together, as did James, Smashing Pumpkins, Rage Against The Machine and Take That (bad example, I grant you).

The latest musicians looking for a second shot of stardom are gravel-toned frontman Gary Stringer, drummer Nathan Curran and bassist Jack Bessant, who notched up seven top-20 singles with Reef between 1995 and 2003.

The trio, alongside new guitarist Jonas Jalhay, formerly of Lady Sovereign, have adopted the name Them Is Me and will be playing the Tap'n'Tin in Chatham on Saturday night.

Gary said he needed the two-year hiatus between the end of Reef and the beginning of Them Is Me.

He said: "For ten years we had the best laugh with Reef. I was 20 when I started, and the whole thing was just amazing, but the last 18 months were not so great – it was getting like real hard work.

"And I thought 'You know what, this is not what I'm in a rock and roll band for, let's walk away from this'.

"Reef had been such a democracy, so for two years I was lost with myself for company in a puff of green smoke.

"But little by little I'd find myself humming a song and before I knew it I had the dictaphone out."

Gary added that recording Them Is Me's debut album and hitting the road had been a simple process, saying: "Everything just seems to have worked out really easily and that's exactly how I remember Reef being.

"I'm so stoked to still be involved with music. It took two years of messing about to realise just how important music is to me."

Tickets to Them Is Me's Chatham gig cost £8. Doors open at 8pm.

ON GENERAL RELEASE

ROCKNROLLA (15)

Guy Ritchie returns to the streets of London, but he needn't have bothered. RocknRolla is of fleeting style and no substance. Old school mobster and foul-mouthed bigot Lenny Cole has visions of grandeur and is keen to forge business ties with a shady Russian billionaire. Unfortunately, the investment money is part of a get rich scheme orchestrated by a sexy accountant and some petty thieves.

BOY IN THE STRIPED PYJAMAS (12A)

Bruno, the son of a Nazi concentration camp commandant, and his sister Gretel live in a mansion, but are one day suddenly moved to a place called Out-With (Auschwitz). Bruno, outraged by his father's decision to move and desperate to go home, spends his time in his room. In boredom, he wonders what is going on at Out-With and why people are always dressed in striped pyjamas there.

EDEN LAKE (18)

Jenny (Kelly Reilly) and her boyfriend Steve (Michael Fassbender) escape for a romantic weekend away. Steve, planning to propose, has found an idyllic setting: a remote lake enclosed by woodlands and seemingly deserted. But the couple's peace is shattered when a gang of obnoxious kids encircle their campsite. The romantic weekend getaway suddenly becomes the holiday from hell.

Revenge of the Seth

BY KATE WHITING

SETH Rogen is slowly but surely conquering Hollywood – with a little help from his friends.

The stand-up comedian turned movie star had his first lead role in last year's Knocked Up, written and directed by his mentor, Judd Apatow.

He followed that with his own film, Superbad, co-written with schoolmate Evan Goldberg.

Pineapple Express, his latest collaboration with Evan and Judd, recently raked in $40 million in its first five days at the US box office – almost twice its $27m budget – and it looks set to do just as well over here.

Not bad for a regular-looking 26-year-old who started out telling jokes at bar mitzvahs.

"I had no money when I was younger and in high school all my friends had jobs and I had no job. I just did stand up," the fuzzy-haired actor explains in his distinctive bear-like growl.

"I started realising I had to treat this like a job, so I did a few bar mitzvahs and they paid me 150 bucks or something like that."

"I actually ran into someone recently, they came up to me and said, 'I was at a bar mitzvah that you did stand-up comedy at'. It was so embarrassing!" he chuckles.

The way Seth tells it, his teens were like something out of one of his films. At 15 he was spotted by a mohel – the man who circumcises Jewish boys – who hired him to write 'icebreaker' jokes.

"They were all like bad haircuts jokes like, 'So, a little off the top?'" he sniggers.

"He wanted jokes because everyone is a little on edge, a few icebreakers, just something. But you don't picture raucous laughter and penile surgery going hand-in-hand."

It's really hard to keep a straight face around Seth, but there is serious business at hand, even if Pineapple Express is his take on the classic stoner film genre – and a kick-ass action movie to boot.

He, Evan and Judd all sat down and came up with the story – drawing on cult films like Pulp Fiction – and then Evan and Seth wrote the script.

Seth plays Dale Denton, a process server (someone who serves legal documents) and self-confessed loser, who is dating a high school girl and spends all day smoking marijuana.

He has a businesslike relationship with his dealer, Saul Silver (James Franco), but the two are thrown together when Dale witnesses a drug lord and a bent cop commit a murder – and accidentally drops the butt of a rare Pineapple Express joint at the scene.

Knowing the dangerous drug lord will work out who he is, Dale and Saul go on the run – and embark on an unlikely friendship.

Emotional male bonding is a signature trait of Seth and Evan's films and something they find hilarious.

"Those are the relationships that just seem funny to us, just two guys working stuff out," Seth says, laughing again.

"Our group of friends back home was really callous, then I moved to LA and became friends with all these actors and all they want to talk about is how they feel and how hurt they are emotionally."

"We were like, 'We can't talk to these people like we talk to our normal friends, because we'll hurt their feelings,'" he laughs.

"I honestly think that was the basis for our films, hurting other guys' feelings and having to apologise to them, and our own trouble navigating that."

BY TOM BETTS

"LIFE is what happens when you are making other plans," was one of John Lennon's more astute observations.

I'm not sure what the producers of the BBC's latest reality snooze-fest have been getting up to, but I'm guessing it must be a fair bit, as they clearly haven't been paying much attention to the lazy format of The Restaurant.

Teams of would-be restaurateurs sizzle and boil their way to an inevitable culinary disaster in the hope of impressing those in the know.

The prize for staying the course and avoiding (yawn) elimination?

The prospect of going into business with world-famous Raymond Blanc and earning a shed-load of dosh.

Well, at least one of those has an upside.

While a few will be asking "who will win the partnership with the top Michelin-starred chef?", you get the feeling that 99.9 per cent of the viewing public will be asking, "who friggin' cares?"

The major problem with this whole sorry affair is that it's more or less a re-hash of The Apprentice; only with food and less charming contestants.

After a balls-up of Titanic proportions at one hapless pair's eatery, one host remarked, "I don't want to argue with you, I just want to negotiate to your satisfaction," over payment for a less than perfect meal.

He was, understandably, met with a stony silence and lasting glare.

Mind you, if there's been a cheekier

KITCHEN NIGHTMARES: Chef Raymond Blanc (above) decides on who stays in The Restaurant request on TV this year, I'll be jiggered if I've heard it.

More terrifying than the thought of paying for a meal at one of these sub-Beefer holes is the prospect of weeks of this diabolical drivel.

It's not all bad news on the BBC though as Who Do You Think You Are? proves.

A show that rarely fails to make celebrities cry obviously has some merits.

Whether it's hard as nails TV presenter Jeremy Paxman shedding a tear at the fate of his long lost or actress Patsy Kensit shocked to find out one of her brood was a thief, this show has done for genealogy what skimpy gold hotpants did for Kylie Minogue's bottom.

As good an hour of TV as this is though, the endless shots of the featured personality staring pensively into the distance are beginning to grate, even if they have just found out their great, great granddad was a serial killer.

YOUR WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

BY RUSSELL GRANT

AQUARIUS (Jan 21-Feb 19)

IT may be time to put an end to a deal that has been haemorrhaging money. You've got to know when to cut your losses. A strong-willed friend may try to convince you to stick with this investment, but that's because it's in their best interest to do so.

• To find out more about what the stars have in store call Russell on Aquarius 09067-531762

TAURUS (Apr 21-May 21)

BREAKING away from a group is painful, but necessary. Staying with the organisation is starting to drain your emotional and financial resources. Contrary to what you might think, you can make it on your own. You're a lot more imaginative than people seem to think.

• To find out more about what the stars have in store call Russell on Taurus 09067-531753

LEO (Jul 24-Aug 23)

AN argument could prompt you to pack up and leave, but don't be hasty. By sticking around and trying to work things out you'll salvage a good relationship. It's hard for you to take a back seat to anybody. Until you learn this valuable skill, all of your partnerships will suffer.

• To find out more about what the stars have in store call Russell on Leo 09067-531756

SCORPIO (Oct 24-Nov 22)

IT'S time to scale back your own private leisure activities and attend to other obligations. People are relying on you to help them through a difficult situation. Although you resent having to rethink your plans, you must admit that it's nice to be needed. Trust your intuition.

PISCES (Feb 20-Mar 20)

STOP trying to call the shots in a relationship. If you're going to maintain an amicable partnership, you need to ease up on the control freakery. The important thing is to show you can take orders as well as give them. Don't beat yourself up about it; we all have our moments.

VIRGO (Aug 24-Sep 23)

THIS isn't a good week to sign an agreement or enter into a partnership. You're being asked to give too many things away. Wait for better options to come along. Relatives may try to pressure you into taking the deal for security's sake, but there are more important things.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 23-Dec 21)

THERE'LL be times when you can't keep your temper under wraps and confronting a manipulative relative will certainly make you feel better. Although a row will create some tense moments at home, it's better than letting the tension build and resentment set in.

• To find out more about what the stars have in store call Russell on Sagittarius 09067-531760

ARIES (Mar 21-Apr 20)

A PARTNERSHIP could be severely tested. You've got to defer to someone's superior knowledge. If that means giving away a greater percentage of the profits, so be it. Resist the urge to tackle a group effort by yourself. You will need all the help you can get.

Bringing those fjords into focus

BY TREVOR MASON

THREADING our way through dozens of islands off the west coast of Norway, it was difficult to believe we were on a ferry from England and not some luxurious Scandinavian cruise.

On the DFDS route from Newcastle to Bergen, the voyage is very much a part of the holiday. Norway is known for its outstanding scenery – and high prices. But once visited, it draws you back again and again.

With that in mind, and for our fourth visit in 30 years, we booked a contrasting two-centre holiday, sampling first a wood cabin high in the mountains and then a city centre hotel in Bergen.

Sailing on the Queen of Scandinavia, the 26-hour journey went almost too quickly thanks to a comfy cabin, a good choice of restaurants and bars, entertainment and films.

We arrived at Bergen – Norway's second largest city with a population of just 242,000 and gateway to the fjords – feeling relaxed.

On an excellent road, we plunged into tunnel after tunnel, hewn through rough rock, and as we climbed higher into the mountains, we passed raging rivers and dozens of waterfalls, with white and red-coloured cabins clustered around lakes large and small.

After collecting our keys and bedding, we turned into a gated private road to reach at our cabin, high in the Kvamskogen mountains – an area popular with skiers in winter and walkers in summer. The cabin had every modern comfort, including satellite TV, DVD player and underfloor heating. The huge outside deck commanded dramatic views of the surrounding summits – some snow-capped even in August – and a large lake below. The peace and quiet, broken only by the occasional tinkling of bells on wandering sheep, was intense.

The nearest town, Norheimsund, had good supermarkets, and yes, we found almost everything much more expensive than in England.

After a week in the mountains it was time for the bustle of city life in Bergen. Staying at the comfortable Thon Hotel Rosenkrantz, on the historic Bryggen waterfront, we were ideally placed to explore its charms. We took a harbour cruise and were able to walk to many of the city's attractions, such as the aquarium and art galleries.

A cable car to the peak of Mount Ulriken – at 642 metres the highest of the seven mountains surrounding the city – offers views out to sea and inland. But on the day we went up, mist and cloud obscured most of the horizon.

We had better luck with the Floibanen, a funicular railway which takes you from the heart of the city to the top of the 320-metre Mount Floyen, where viewing platforms give expansive views.

All too soon our holiday was over, but we still had the return journey to look forward to.

Nationwide is merging with smaller rivals

NATIONWIDE Building Society, which has branches across the county, is to merge with the Derbyshire and Cheshire Building Societies.

The UK's largest building society will acquire its two rivals through separate transactions, in a move it says it has undertaken to ensure the viability of the mutual sector in the UK.

The decisions were described by Nationwide as "prudent and pre-emptive", following the identification of "financial issues" faced by the smaller societies.

Smaller societies have come under pressure in recent months to consolidate positions, as the liquidity crisis reduces the availability of wholesale finance.

The move is in the "best interests" of the savers and borrowers of both smaller societies, said Graham Beale, Nationwide's chief executive.

"The core member businesses of both societies are in good shape and have a better future as part of a larger organisation," he said.

Landlords can tailor interiors to tenants

THE Residential Landlords' Association is advising buy-to-let investors to check the interiors of their properties in order to ensure they can get the best deal when it comes to tenants.

RLA director Alan Ward says thought should be given to interiors to ensure the decor and fittings appeal to the kind of person the landlord is seeking to attract.

Furnished apartments are usually best for students or young singles, while couples and those looking for long-term leases are more likely to wish to put their own stamp on homes.

Young professionals sharing a house may be looking for two bathrooms.

The local market should also be researched before deciding whether to let a property fully or partly furnished.

A well presented property is easier to let and more likely to give a choice of tenants. It is important to research the chosen tenant group and review whether a property will meet expectations.

Landlords need to be increasingly aware about marketing, according to RICS, because instructions for lettings are on the rise.

Borrowers benefit as lenders start rate war

Positive news at last for hard-pressed home-buyers

MORTGAGE buyers have received a boost with lenders setting off a rate war to attract the best customers.

Of the 12 leading lenders, nine have now cut their headline interest rates on two and three-year fixed-rate deals in the last two weeks alone, according to research from MoneySupermarket.com.

Halifax – the UK's largest mortgage lender – led the way with cuts of 0.95 per cent, bringing the cost of the cheapest two-year deal down to 4.89 per cent.

■ BY NICK AMES

However, the deal comes with a maximum loan-to-value (LTV) ratio of 25 per cent and a fee of 2.5 per cent.

Lloyds TSB is also offering a rate below five per cent. Following cuts of 0.5 per cent over the last two weeks, the bank now has a deal at 4.99 per cent, with a similar LTV and fee structure to Halifax.

Cuts of 0.2 and 0.25 per cent respectively have seen Britannia and Abbey take rates on a two-year fixed-rate deal to 5.44 and 5.54 per cent. However, Abbey has a maximum LTV of 70 per cent on the cheapest deals. "We are in the midst of a mortgage crisis, yet three-quarters of the nation's biggest lenders have recently slashed rates on deals," said Louise Cuming, head of mortgages at Money Supermarket.com.

"For such a significant proportion of mortgage providers to drop their rates underlines an industry-wide recognition that rates were too high.

"This is good for borrowers who can take heart in some positive news – a rarity during the credit crisis.

"I am also pleased see lenders making a real effort to make borrowing more affordable."

MOTORS NEWS

Buyers keen to Czech out new Skoda Superb

SKODA aims to put 'Superb' back into its reputation. The Czech marque made its name and the original Superb models before World War Two, as pre-communist Czechoslovakia's equivalent of Rolls-Royce.

Guests at Skoda dealers' new Superb launch nights this week will find out whether such quality and style is back.

The new car (from £15,490) will be ridiculously cheap like its immediate predecessor though, for an executive class model.

As usual, Skoda's spec levels will be embarrassingly generous too.

Peugeot's new surfers' option on the Tepee

PEUGEOT has followed up the successful Partner Combi family holdall.

The Partner Tepee is based on the Peugeot 308 car rather than a van though. Costing from £11,215, it seats up to five, has sliding rear side doors and majors on storage, removable seating and versatility – there is even an optional internal roof rack designed to take surf boards.

An alternative Zenith multi-purpose roof option adds 80 litres of extra storage beneath the high roof plus four large glazed panels for extra cabin airiness.

Proton launch dual fuel saver challenge on Ford

PROTON has launched a 'same price' dual fuel 1.6-litre GEN-2 Ford Focus challenger. The 'ecoLogic' GEN-2 beats the credit crunch and high road tax and fuel costs by automatically switching from its petrol tank to run largely on cut-price LPG (liquefied petroleum gas).

LPG currently costs 58p/litre, but an aftermarket conversion costs £1,500-£2,000; the factory-fitted installation on the ecoLogic GEN-2 is available for £10,995 in hatchback or £10,795 in saloon form.

SHOWING THE WAY: BMW's 'EfficientDynamics' technology has been fitted to most of its cars and uses energy that would otherwise be lost in braking to recharge the battery

Commute for free with BMW's green machine

SOME car makers trumpet hybrids, others spout the controversial eco-merits of bio-power.

There is also hydrogen, but that is a way off yet.

Then there's 'a nip here, a tuck there', an approach that has landed many awards for the BMW 118d and the German marque's 'EfficientDynamics' technology fitted to most of its cars.

The BMW package uses energy otherwise lost in braking to recharge the battery, mostly sidelining the engine-sapping alternator.

Emissions and demands on power and fuel are also reduced by electric power steering and 'Start-Stop'; the engine stops when the car sits in neutral and restarts when the clutch is depressed.

Furthermore, a gearshift change indicator encourages economical motoring.

All of which enables the three/five-door 118d to record 62.8mpg on the combined cycle with CO2 emissions of just 119g/km, putting it into road tax band-B (£35/year) and London Congestion Charge exempt under proposed revisions.

This suggests that a Kent-based commuter could actually take out a three-year PCP (Personal Contract Purchase plan) on a 118d and run it for free from congestion charge and fuel savings.

We borrowed one from Broad Oak BMW of Ashford and Canterbury, which confirms a hefty take-up for the greener 1-Series. An all-white paint job made it hard to dish the dirt on our eco-paragon, three-door hatch sample, other than to remind myself that I still don't like the styling. However, the car feels well constructed and, of course, handles beautifully in the 'BeeEm' tradition thanks to its front engine/rear drive balance.

Liberated by EfficientDynamics, the 2.0-litre engine – the nomenclature suggests 1.8, but it is actually 1,995cc – has punch if you want to drive it hard. That electric steering is also precise with good feedback, unlike some.

On the other hand, the engine and smooth six-speed 'box allow quiet and frugal cruising.

The rear is not the most spacious and access could be better, even in the five-door. Run-flat tyres also dictate an unforgiving ride, though losing the spare saves weight and returns space lost to the car's rear transmission.

USED CAR ROUND-UP: OUR PICK FROM A KEY SECTOR

BEST-SELLING JAPANESE SUPERMINIS

carsforkent.co.uk

SUPERMINIS were not something that Japanese carmakers used to 'do' with much style or verve. They were reliable, of course, but easily outclassed for image and style by European marques. But that changed with the original Toyota Yaris, ironically made in France for European markets. The Yaris now faces its stiffest competition from fellow Japanese manufacturers in the form of the quirky looking yet robust Nissan Micra and Mitsubishi Colt. All three make a statement but are also practical and reliable.

TOYOTA YARIS

TOYOTA'S original mould-breaking supermini (pictured) was replaced in 2006, but the second generation car has built upon its reputation for space within eye-catching yet compact dimensions; a Yaris of any age makes a decent used buy. The original also spawned the hugely versatile Verso estate-cum-MPV. The Yaris driving experience is classy too, but the years are becoming less kind to the interior design and visual quality of the original car.

NISSAN MICRA

BORING Nissan? Well, the Micra has blown that myth apart. This is the supermini that says you don't have to conform to style in order to be space-efficient and you don't have to carry a French badge to be chic – although Renault now owns Nissan. The Micra turns heads and looks 'right' in three or five-door form. It's affordable and reliable, available with excellent diesels and marketed with some stylish trim in the dearer versions.

MITSUBISHI COLT

THIS stylish little car has been a lifeline for Mitsubishi dealerships, starved so long of decent mainstream car models. It is offered in two forms: an MPV-style five-door with masses of space and a higher driving position, or a lower-slung and pugnacious sporting three-door. The CZT three-door hot hatch version is possibly best in class for the money, but the whole range delivers a good drive. Interiors are refreshing and almost Scandinavian in design.

BECOME A MULTI-SKILLED ENERGY ASSESSOR

By law trained Energy Assessors will need to carry out an estimated 3 million Energy Assessments in the year from this October - 200,000 commercial buildings, 1.8 million homes being rented and 1.1 million being sold (2.1m in normal house sale years).

Applicants are therefore required to train now - no previous surveying experience is required - at our London, Bristol, Birmingham and Manchester training centres which are approved by the Government-appointed Awarding Body for the Built Environment. The subsidised training is taken in separately bookable 1-week modules usually around current commitments and you qualify as a multi-skilled Domestic and Commercial Energy Assessor, Flood Risk Assessor and Home Inspector.

Homes now being sold already require Assessments with average fees of £70 homes paid to our Assessors - fees for the 1.8m rented homes from October are expected to be similar. Fees for currently optional Home Inspections average £250 - commercial Assessments are expected to be higher. Up to 15 domestic Assessments or 6 commercial Assessments or Home Inspections are estimated to be carried out in a week, subject to size of properties and supply. As well as thousands of Assessors carrying out Energy Assessments, 7500 Home Inspectors will be needed upon Government making Home Inspections compulsory - less than a thousand are currently certified.

Regardless of the 'credit crunch' these new 'green' laws and 3 million Assessments are creating a rapidly expanding new industry which you could join, subject to interview and Aptitude test. So apply now for subsidised training and to start a new career carrying out this environmentally important work with potential multiple income stream opportunities.

Team Leader Vacancy

Team Leader for Mathematics
Salary Leadership Scale L13 – L14

Now in its fourth year, Kent's first Academy continues to challenge traditional approaches and to drive up standards – over twenty students have now gone on to university and last year's 5A*-C GCSE figure topped 50%. Real progress has been made with the 2011 National Challenge, but we believe that the creation of this Leadership Team post is crucial to our continued success.

The successful candidate will at least have:

- ✦ relevant middle leader experience;
- ✦ a background in Mathematics;
- ✦ energy, drive, commitment and ambition;
- ✦ and excellent communication skills.

Jenny Spooner, our Personnel Manager, is administering the appointment process. Please email her for details at Jennifer.spooner@marloweacademy.co.uk, as well as the chance to tour the Academy with our Principal, Ian Johnson.

The closing date for applications is Friday 10th October 2008.

We look forward to hearing from you.

Thanet Children's Participation Project Hythe and Ashford Saturday Club

Thanet Children's Participation Project works with children and young people to enable them to engage in positive activities, contributing to their communities and making their voices and opinions heard.

Having successfully established activity clubs for children with disabilities in both Hythe and Ashford, we are now seeking to appoint an additional number of fun-loving, creative, caring and approachable Support Workers for our Saturday Clubs. As a sessional worker your focus will be to provide support and positive play and leisure experiences for children and young people with disabilities, in a scheme that will run on two Saturdays per month in each area.

You will need to have some previous experience of working with children and young people with disabilities, a sound knowledge and understanding of the issues facing disabled children and young people, and the ability to engage with children using participative methods in an informal setting. You will be educated to GCSE standard (or equivalent). Reliability and punctuality are a critical element of this role.

Hours for these posts will be variable, though as an indication for candidates sessions usually run for five-six hours per Saturday. There may be a possibility for staff to work additional hours at either scheme during school holidays; however this aspect cannot be guaranteed. All appointments are subject to an enhanced CRB disclosure.

For an informal discussion about the role please contact the project team by telephone on 01843 596659.

As well as a strong commitment to your development, we offer generous holidays, contributory stakeholder pension, childcare vouchers and flexible working.

To apply, please visit www.playyourpart.co.uk in the first instance, or call us on 0121 362 8633 quoting reference number S01266/KS. Applications must be received by Thursday 18 September, and interviews will take place on 26 September.

Director of Learning for Mathematics

MPS +TLR - £10,303

Following the promotion of the previous post holder to a senior management position, we will be appointing his permanent replacement from 1st January 2009.

This is an exciting opportunity for an ambitious and talented colleague to join our Team. Building upon the success of the Montgomery School during its final years, Spires had a very good first year. Year 7 numbers have doubled, GCSE results with English and Maths shot up from 18% to 32%, and there is a real sense of optimism in our community, a 'can do' mentality.

Maths results last year were the best of the core subjects, testimony to the quality of teaching and organisation of the curriculum. There is, however, real potential for improvement as well as the opportunity to teach at Sixth Form level through our link with the Marlowe Academy.

Potential candidates are encouraged to visit the school as part of the application process.

Please email our Personnel Manager, Marion Wigington, on m.wigington@spiresacademy.com for further details of how to apply.

Closing date: 10.00am on Friday 10th October
Interviews scheduled for the following week.

Recruitment and Training Officers

Starting salary £20,061, with progression through contribution related pay to £22,825 per annum West Kent and East Kent

KEY Training Services deliver an exciting range of innovative training programmes to people aged 14-upwards. As one of the largest work-based training providers in Kent, we offer a wide range of Vocational and Pre-vocational programmes and qualifications across 5 centres in Kent. Working with KEY provides you with excellent Professional Development Opportunities.

Our Open Door programme is an innovative confidence and motivational course, which provides young people aged 16-25 with the skills they need for further training and employment. This position is learner focused, fast paced, and above all rewarding.

To succeed, you will need to be able to deliver motivational and confidence training, whilst supporting, guiding and developing young people and engaging and encouraging employers to support young people in work placements.

Developing, implementing and researching new training ideas along with responding to change and using your initiative, will all be part of your remit.

If you have these competencies we would like you to join our team.

This post is subject to an Enhanced Disclosure Application to the Criminal Records Bureau.

South East Health Ltd is a dynamic, growing organisation, commissioned by several Primary Care Trusts in Kent and Sussex to deliver an impressive range of unscheduled care services to a resident population base of around 2.2 million.

In order to meet the needs of patients we require experienced nurses to join the following nursing teams:

NURSE PRACTITIONERS

Nurses with minor illness/injury experience are required to work alongside our GP workforce at William Harvey Hospital, Ashford for daytime and out-of-hours shifts as part of our A&E Front Ending Project.

We also require experienced minor illness nurses to work within our Out of Hours clinical bases within East Kent including Sittingbourne and the Isle of Sheppey. Nurses will provide assessment and treatment for patients with urgent care needs, supported by PGD's and prescribing skills where appropriate.

NURSE ADVISORS

Telephone Nurse Advisors are the first point of clinical contact for patients and we are currently recruiting for our Ashford Call Centre. Using clinical knowledge and skills alongside triage protocols you will decide the most appropriate pathway of care for patients and their symptoms.

STAN (SINGLE TELEPHONE ACCESS NUMBER)

The STAN service has been commissioned by PCT's and is staffed by a team of experienced nurses and skilled support staff. We require nurses to join our team working between 8am and 8pm at our Ashford Call Centre to help plan patient care alongside GP's ensuring appropriate transfers of care for patients.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Proper equipment essential at height

THE Health and Safety Executive (HSE) is urging companies to provide full safety equipment to employees working at height, following the prosecution of a Hampshire company last week.

Profile Construction and Interiors pleaded guilty at Basingstoke magistrates' court and was fined £234, plus £200 costs and a victim surcharge of £15, for breaching regulation 9(2) of the Work at Height Regulations 2005.

It comes after an incident last August when an employee fell three and a half metres through a fragile roof and suffered a broken collarbone, fractured ribs and a fractured skull in three places.

He was standing on two crawling boards Profile Construction and Interiors had provided.

However, the boards were an insufficient platform to work on, and no coverings or guard-rails had been provided.

Two autumn talks

THE Kent branch of the Chartered Institute of Marketing is hosting two evening events this autumn.

The first is on Wednesday, October 8, at the Ramada Hotel Resort in Maidstone. The Kent annual marketing lecture, On a Wing and Prayer, will be delivered by Tony Anderson, former marketing director of EasyJet.

Then, at Kings Hill on Wednesday, November 12, CIM Kent branch president Dr Paul Fifield will talk on Marketing in a Recession.

Both lectures are open to all businesses and interested people. To book, visit www.cimkent.co.uk.

Chapel Down dinner

THE newly-opened restaurant run by celebrity TV chef Richard Phillips at Chapel Down vineyard is hosting an evening for county businesspeople to celebrate the best of English food and wine.

As grapes at the Tenterden vineyard near harvest time, guests will tour vineyards and the winery, followed by wine tasting and dinner.

The event on Thursday, September 25, has been organised by the Kent branch of the Institute of Directors.

Tickets are £45 for IoD members, £55 for non-members, plus VAT. Contact iod.kent@iod.com or call 01732 849570.

ADD to the pressures of modern office life

■ BY TONY PATEY

IT'S spreading from the blackboard jungle to the e-mail jungle – Attention Deficit Disorder (ADD) has migrated from the classroom to the office.

Office workers may not have heard of it but, according to Officebroker.com, which claims to work with 98 per cent of the UK's serviced office space providers and landlords, it's "one of the most alarming threats to productivity modern businesses face".

And it warns Kent firms it could well be here to stay, so has joined forces with leading stress consultant Ros Coleman to investigate if office ADD is unavoidable or if it can be sorted out by taking correct measures.

Office ADD was coined last year by American psychiatrist Dr Ned Hallowell, who noticed office workers with ADD symptoms – it's a neuro-behavioural condition, well known to teachers, which usually develops in childhood and is prevalent in one to three per cent of the world's population.

Symptoms include a poor eye for detail, forgetfulness, short attention span, listening problems, an inability to follow simple instructions, poor organisational skills, avoidance of tasks involving mental effort and the loss of important information.

Breaking point

Officebroker.com managing director Jim Venables said: "Everyone has a breaking point when put under a lot of stress. When this point is crossed we break down and our attention diminishes."

"The good news is that there are measures businesses can take to help employees regain control of their lives and manage their workloads."

Ms Coleman, a member and former vice-chairwoman of the International Stress Management Association (UK), said: "Office ADD appearing more prevalent today could be because of the incredible advances in technology we have had to adapt to."

"On the up side, it is fantastic that we now have access to virtually any information immediately. On the down side, employers expect information immediately, often to unrealistic deadlines."

"As the pressure increases, the effect it is having on individuals is taking its toll. In the UK, one in six people report their jobs to be either very or extremely stressful and work-related stress accounts for one-third of all new incidents of ill-health."

HIDDEN DANGER: Office ADD could be a sign of extreme stress or impending burnout

"This includes mild to severe mental and physical health problems, emotional exhaustion and burnout."

"This cause-and-effect situation is what psychiatrists in the United States are now labelling Office ADD. Governments and employers should be taking it very seriously."

She advises office staff to: prioritise daily workloads; set aside time to go through e-mails each day; respond to new e-mails immediately; if your body is telling to stop don't ignore it; take regular breaks, leave your desk and drink plenty of fluids, and most important of all, communicate with your boss and with your colleagues.

Mr Venables added: "Communication is the key to overcoming this problem. It is important for organisations to look for symptoms of Office ADD among their employees."

"At least if you know the problem you can offer to help. We are all human and there should be no shame for individuals to admit they are struggling. A chain is only as strong as its weakest link."

Sad Spitfires blow it again at the final hurdle

Picture: GORD KUPCO

CAPTAIN'S INNINGS: Rob Key's 120 not out wasn't enough to stop Essex Eagles beating Kent to the Pro40 Division Two title

GRANT Flower once again proved the scourge of Kent as the Zimbabwean hit an unbeaten 68 to deny the Spitfires promotion in Division Two of the Pro40, writes Glenn Pearson.

After helping Essex to a five-wicket win against Kent in the Friends Provident Trophy at Lord's last month, Flower once again proved the difference to help his side win the crucial Pro40 promotion decider by four wickets.

The defeat ensured Essex finished the season as champions of Division Two, while the Spitfires missed out on promotion, finishing fourth, and caps off a frustrating one-day season in which they lost in both the final of the FPT and Twenty20.

The Spitfires scored a competitive 246-5 thanks to a superb innings from skipper Rob

CRICKET

Key. The Kent captain carried his bat for an excellent unbeaten 120, which came from 117 balls and included 15 fours and one towering six.

He put on a partnership of 112 with South African Martin van Jaarsveld, who was controversially run out for 60 when it looked he was on for a big score.

Overseas all-rounder Yasir Arafat struck with the first ball of the Essex innings, bowling Eagles captain Mark Pettini with a beauty that shaped away and pegged back his off stump.

From there on there was little for Spitfires fans to cheer as Jason Gallian (51) and Ravi Bopapa (59) shared a stand of 113 to put their side back in charge. However, Darren Stevens, not for the first time this season, broke the partnership by taking both wickets.

It brought Flower to the crease and the Zimbabwean veteran played the perfect innings to see his side over the line. Kent's bowlers, who were below par, found him difficult to bowl to and he eventually steered his side over the line with an over to spare.

Key said after the game: "It's a shame because I felt that was a decent score, but we probably weren't at our best."

"It's been the bridesmaid season, but I don't think we should accept that. We have been in effectively three finals."

"It's things like that [losing in finals] that you need to get off your back. You need to start winning stuff so next time you come around to it you're not thinking about it."

Third defeat on trot for struggling Town

DEAL Town fell to their third defeat of the new Kent League season at the hands of Sevenoaks Town on Saturday.

Marlon Button's 58th minute goal proved to be the difference between the two teams as Derek Hares' side slumped to a 3-2 defeat.

Sevenoaks opened the scoring through Andy Constable but a penalty from Deal's Dave Bathgate and a goal from Marc Pollard gave Deal the lead at half-time.

Constable's second of the match shortly after the break followed by Button's strike proved pivotal as Sevenoaks took the three points.

Deal are back in Kent League action tonight against Herne Bay.

Dominant Lions are back in the hunt

DEAL & Betteshanger started the new London South East 3 season with a 12-8 win against last season's play-off losers Purley John Fisher.

The Lions put their poor pre-season form of two consecutive defeats behind them for Saturday's clash and took all two points in a dominant display.

The Lions will look to continue their form when they take on Warringham at home on Saturday.

In London South East 4, Folkestone got the season off to a great start, beating East Grinstead 27-8. Drew Woolford, Ben Brooks, Jon Morton and Trevor Squire scored the tries for Folkestone.

CUP DREAMS: New Dover striker Giuliano Grazioli almost got on the score sheet in his first appearance for Andy Hessenthaler's side, but the effort was ruled out by the referee

Hess sent to the stands in ill-tempered FA Cup clash

FA CUP FIRST QUALIFYING ROUND

■ BY TOM HOWARD

Tonbridge Angels 1 Dover Athletic 2

The second half saw Dover press for a second goal and Jerahl Hughes and Grazioli both joined the fray.

Ultimately, the winner came on 65 minutes as Lee Browning picked out the unmarked Welford with a cross and the striker nodded the ball into the net.

The final ten minutes saw both Tonbridge and Dover put the ball into the net through Rook and Grazioli, but the goals were ruled out by the referee for off-side.

Hessenthaler was delighted with the victory but is hoping his side can reach the first round proper for the first time.

He said: "We went out very early last year which was disappointing so we are definitely looking to longer run this season.

"It would be fantastic to have a good cup run. It would bring a lot of financial awards and it would increase our publicity and with the support we already get in Dover that would be brilliant."

"There are a lot of good teams in Kent and maybe it is time one made it to the first-round proper."

After adding to his strike-force with Grazioli, Hessenthaler is not looking to show anyone the door, but admits it will be hard to satisfy all of his players.

He said: "Competition has certainly increased for places up front and it is going to be hard work for Bailey, Collin and Welford to nail down a permanent place in the side."

"With the chances that we have been creating recently, Giuliano will certainly be on the score sheet. I think he could be the missing link we have been looking for."

"I have no pressure from the chairman to get rid of any players and it will be hard to keep everybody happy, but that is a problem I will have to deal with. That is football I am afraid."

MATCH WINNER: Jimmy Dryden's (in red) tenth goal since returning to Folkestone helped his side reach the second qualifying round of the FA Cup

Dryden on target to put Invicta through in cup

A LATE Jimmy Dryden strike booked Folkestone Invicta's place in the second qualifying round of the FA Cup by dispatching Ryman Premier League side Ramsgate.

Neil Cugley's side should have wrapped the tie up earlier but the pivotal moment of the match came in the 88th minute. Dryden capitalised on a poor back pass from Dan Tanner and calmly slotted past Ramsgate goalkeeper Jack Delo.

Cugley's side have just one defeat to their name this season and was delighted to get a win against Kent rivals Ramsgate.

Cugley said: "It was a great result but in all honesty we should have wrapped it up earlier in the match but in the end Dryden took his goal well. It was very pleasing to beat a side

FA CUP FIRST QUALIFYING ROUND

■ BY TOM HOWARD

Folkestone Invicta 1 Ramsgate 0

from a league above and especially Ramsgate, as we have had a poor record against them."

Match-winner Dryden has netted ten times since returning to Invicta after spending last season at Dover Athletic. However, Cugley believes there is more to come from the forward.

He said: "To be honest, Dryden has not really got going yet and we have not seen the best from him, but I am sure it will not take him long to find his touch again and he'll be scoring even more goals."

A return to the Ryman Premier League is the target for Invicta this season after suffering final day relegation heartache last season.

Lying third in Ryman Division One South after six games, Cugley feels his side should at least make the play-offs come the end of the season.

He added: "We have made a good start to the season but there is more to come from my players as we have Craig Wilkins, Jimmy Corbett and Lee Spiller to come back from injury."

"If we can keep this kind of form going, there is no reason why we cannot challenge for promotion."

Invicta will return to Ryman Division One South action against Burgess Hill Town at home on Saturday.

Picture PHIL HOUGHTON

IMPRESSIVE: Dover ran in four tries in their first game in London 2 South

Dover kick-off season in style

Beckenham 7 Dover 29

TWO tries from winger Ricky Mackintosh helped Dover begin life in London 2 South with a convincing victory.

Beckenham could not handle the pace of Dover's running rugby, which warranted four tries in an impressive display from the newly-promoted side.

With nine minutes on the clock, Dover blitzed the Beckenham defence to score two tries. First Martyn Beaumont went over in the corner after several phases of play and added the extras.

The second saw the backs show their class as Jon Foster's inside pass found Mackintosh, who used his pace to dash over the try line. Once again Beaumont added the extras.

Dover's intensity dropped shortly before the break and allowed Beckenham to surge forward, but solid tackling from Jamie Townley and Gus Surrendorff denied them.

The visitors continued to push forward and scored their third try just shy of the hour mark. The Beckenham inside centre was caught in possession and Beaumont latched on to the loose ball and ran in a try.

Two sin bins saw Dover down to 13 players as Foster and Danny Robinson were both penalised for infringements. Beckenham were unable to make their man advantage pay and failed to score.

With the points wrapped up, Dover went on to score a fourth try and it was to be the score of the game.

Beaumont's cross-field kick found Mackintosh who composed himself and sprinted to the line, a move similar to England's Charlie Hodgson and Mark Cueto.

Dover should feel satisfied with this result and senior coach Graham Tonks was upbeat about the months ahead.

He said: "This was by no means an easy start for us but we applied the early pressure, took the points and dug deep. Our defence and commitment was first class and this game will give us the confidence to move forward. All of my players performed today which was more than satisfying."

Dover host Old Colfeians on Saturday for their first home match of the season.

Hythe fail to capitalise against ten-man VCD

FOOTBALL

Hythe Town 0 VCD Athletic 0

HYPHE Town were forced into a FA Cup first qualifying round replay last night as they failed to break down the ten men of VCD at the Reachfields on Saturday.

Paul Fisk's side were without last season's golden boot winner Buster Smissen and they missed him as they could not breach VCD's defence after they were reduced to ten men. Chances were few and far between, as both sides played out a goalless draw.

However, after an unbeaten start to their Kent League campaign, Fisk is determined to keep the wins coming.

He said: "It is a good start to the season. Last year we had a good result in midweek and then went and lost 1-0 to Slade Green. We are all aware of that and every time we play a game we are trying to put that right. It is our intention to get promotion but whether we do it or can do it, we will have to find out."

"It has been a good start and are just trying to keep it going and not worry about where we finish until later on."

"The start is as good as I could have hoped for. The result at VCD [in the league] was another good one so I am pleased really."

"Up to the last ten games we were up there last year so we know what we need to do. We just need to keep our heads down and concentrate on the job and not worry about other people."

Construction Expo 2008 has joined with Kent's Future Live, the regeneration show that has been held successfully for the past two years within Kent County Show. The merger of these two events will provide a powerful business platform for all those interested in construction, development and regeneration projects in Kent and Medway.

SEEDA, delivery boards, contractors, architects, developers, planners, suppliers, utilities and training providers are among the many exhibiting and visiting the show. Invitations have been sent to key decision-makers in the industry and to Ministers and local MPs.

A comprehensive conference programme will be held throughout the day; In the main exhibition area, modern building techniques will be demonstrated including the application of clay block and engineered flooring systems by Natural Building Technology and Total Floor Solutions. Other interactive demonstrations featuring brickwork, carpentry, painting and decorating, and roofing will be on hand.

Denne Construction will host its own mini-expo, aimed at schools, in a marquee next to the main exhibition area.

The show promises to be a valuable and vibrant day, concluding with a champagne reception and guided tour of the Rochester Riverside development on board the refurbished paddle steamer, Kingswear Castle.

Entry to Construction Expo 2008 is free to visitors who will have the opportunity to:

- View a wide range of solutions and services on offer from leading suppliers
- Receive expert advice from industry experts
- Attend a comprehensive Conference Programme – covering key issues within the industry
- Network with key players
- Visit the Mini Expo, showcasing work from schools in Kent and Medway

Dining and Refreshments

Hot and cold food available all day

Construction Expo is on Wednesday 24th September 2008 at Chatham Historic Dockyard.

The exhibition opens at 8am and finishes at 4pm. | 9.15am  | David Liston-JonesChief Executive of the Thames Gateway Kent Partnership                                | Outline of presentation to Construction Expo 24 September 2008David Liston-Jones's presentation will set the context for the day's discussions. He will describe the development of the Thames Gateway programme, and the particular issues and challenges we face in the Kent part of the Gateway. He will explain how the authorities and partnerships in North Kent are working together to tackle those issues, and highlight some examples of the real and significant progress that has already been made. Whilst we are currently operating in a challenging economic climate, the Thames Gateway is a long-term initiative and David will talk about the exciting plans for the future of the area. | 12.10pm | Rob ThompsonLegal ExecutiveBrachers Solicitors  | Debt RecoveryIn this current period of economic uncertainty, Rob will present a practical "self-help guide" to help prevent businesses within the construction industry from falling victim to bad debt. After setting the scene with the latest debt statistics, he will deal with relationships with customers, with a view to hopefully avoiding problems arising in the first place. Emphasis will also be placed on the importance of clear contractual relations and maintaining the balance between marketing and realisations. Finally, he will share some hints on how to ensure that you are not seen as a "soft touch" whilst at the same time maintaining good customer relations. |
